

The fish listened intently to what the frogs had to say.

He is good at eating pickles and telling women about his emotional problems.

She had the gift of being able to paint songs.

You can't compare apples and oranges, but what about bananas and plantains?

I was very proud of my nickname throughout high school but today- I couldn't be any different to what my nickname was.